THE GRAND ARMY.

The organization known as the grand army of the republic came into existence in April, 1866, through the efforts of Benjamin F. Stephenson, of Decatur, Illinois. The first grand army post meeting was held on the sixth of that month, the ritual being written by Major Stephenson. The statement is made that the second post organized was "The Ocasus Fairchild post No. 1, of Madison, Wis., organized June 10, 1866, whose name was afterward changed to C. O. Washburn post No. 11. The Wisconsin department enjoys the honor of having been the first in the country. It was organized June 7, 1866, by the election of J. K. Prouditt, of Madison, department commander, even before there was a post in the state. The Illinois department, which has heretofore enjoyed the distinction of being the initial organization of the kind, was not formed until July 12, 1866, when General John M. Palmer was chosen department commander."

The first national encampment was held at Indianapolis November 20th, 1866. One of the resolutions adopted was that the grand army was organized to maintain in civil life those great principles for which it stood in arms under the national flag; that the society pledged itself to work for legislation for the benefit of orphans and widows of deceased soldiers; declared in favor of a congressional act "making it the inexorable duty of every citizen to defend his country in time of need, in person and not by substitute;" and call President Johnson's attention to "this policy" previously expressed on the subject of distributing political officers among needy and worthy soldiers. When the first national encampment was held at Indianapolis, ten states were represented, but since that time the representation has rapidly increased and at some of these annual gatherings every northern state and many of the southern states send delegates. The national encampments have been held at the following places:

1867.....	Indianapolis	1878.....	Springfield, Mass.
1868.....	Omaha	1879.....	Albany
1869.....	Philadelphia	1880.....	Dayton, Ohio

It will be interesting to read the list of grand army commanders from the organization to the election of General Alger: Stephen A. Loring, Illinois.....1866-70 John A. Hurlburt, Illinois.....1870-72 Charles Levens, Jr., Massachusetts.....1872-74 John P. Hartman, Pennsylvania.....1874-76 William Farnsworth, Ohio.....1876-78 Louis Wagner, Pennsylvania.....1878-80 George B. Merrill, Massachusetts.....1880-82 Paul Vanderhook, Nebraska.....1882-84 Robert B. Heath, Pennsylvania.....1884-86 S. B. Burdett, Washington.....1886-88 John P. Hurlburt, Wisconsin.....1888-90 Russell A. Alger, Michigan.....1890-92

The annual report of the adjunct general contains some statistical information that will be of interest to the general reader. At the beginning of 1889 there were forty departments of the grand army, comprising 6,350 posts, with a total membership in good standing, as the report for the second quarter of 1888 shows, of 361,149 and now, after the lapse of a year, the consolidated report for the quarter ending June 30, 1889, gives forty-two permanent departments, with 6,711 posts, and a membership in good standing of 382,580, being a net gain of two departments, 351 posts and 21,431 comrades in good standing. The following table is a recapitulation of the membership of the grand army:

RECAPITULATION.
Members in good standing, June 30, 1889.....	361,149

Adding to this those out on transfer.....	3,000
who are, of course, still members of the order gives a total membership of.....	413,630

It will be interesting also to state that the grand army has expected $237,657.63 for charity sake during the year ending March 31st, 1889. There were 23,036 persons relieved, and there were found in all the states of the Union except six.

The Daily Gazette of this city, whose editor, Mr. Brown, was the confidant of Gen. Grant and is on the most intimate terms with the Grant family, is a lengthy article this evening demanding that the remains of the old commander be removed from their present resting place either to his former home in Galena or to the national cemetery in Washington. In view of the unfulfilled promises on the part of the people of New York to erect a suitable monument to his memory, the article, which bids fair to excite considerable attention, earnestly rebukes the citizens of New York for the shameful manner in which they have broken their pledges to do honor to Grant. — A Galena Dispatch.

The grounds on which the Galena Gazette urges the removal of the remains of General Grant are well taken. The cor-duct of the citizens of New York in regard to the Grant monument is nothing less than a disgrace. Probably the time will never come when New York will erect a suitable monument to General Grant. That city was never known to make good a promise of that kind. There is not enough character about the city to honor any pledge it ever made. It will beg for attractions and then sneak out of paying for them. Its course in regard to "Liberty Enlightening the World," was a humiliating and shameful as broken promises pertaining to the Grant monument. If New York should bid for the world's fair and secure the prize, the city would expect outsiders to make its pledges good. By all means remove the remains of Grant to Galena.

There is still too much chivalry in Mississippi. The attempt to hold a primary election at a wayside village in that state resulted in the killing of one man, the wounding of two more. It is southern chivalry was half as handy with the pistol as it is with the sword. It is southern chivalry that has made the South a land of blood and honey long ago. — Philadelphia Inquirer.

Southern chivalry takes queer freaks sometimes, but hardly ever in the right direction. Take another illustration of southern chivalry: Simply because General Lewis appointed an excellent colored young man who is a republican to a position in the postoffice at Atlanta, the chivalric people of that city, began to boycott the firm of which General Lewis was a member, so that to save the business from ruin, he was compelled to sell out. The chivalry of the south objected to an educated colored young man who was a republican, going in the postoffice, although it did not object to five colored clerks, who are democrats, going in the postoffice under a democratic postmaster.

W. L. Scott, the great coal mine owner, has no pennies to add to the wages of miners, but in the next democratic campaign the national committee will call on him to "back up" $500,000, and he will likely do it. He is among the great democratic leaders and Governor Cleveland's right-hand man. — Inter Ocean.

W. L. Scott has never been as generous to his miners as Andrew Carnegie has been to his workmen—never having given them a share in the profits of his mines—and yet would Senator Voorhees claim that Scott should be hanged? Very likely his politics would save him no matter how much he oppressed his miners.

The various drawn for the support of the various institutions for the month of August were as follows:

State hospital for the insane.....	$2,204.65
Northern hospital for the insane.....	17,428.29
School for the blind.....	4,278.24
Industrial school for boys.....	981.53
State prison.....	8,349.97
State public school.....	8,267.31
Total.....	$52,569.94

In these expenses are included the building of water towers at the Northern hospital and the school for boys, a new school building and a hospital at the state public school, steam heating apparatus at the state prison, and a gymnasium building at the school for the deaf.

A man by the name of Campbell has accepted the democratic nomination for governor of Ohio, as against Foraker. Mr. Campbell will have plenty of time late in the fall to mourn over the wreck of his ambition.

General Bragg made a grave blunder when he so far lost his temper and his manhood as to call the soldiers "coffee coolers." That remark lost him a place in the Iron Brigade organization.

There are more murders committed in Chicago annually than in any other city in the United States. This is the only draw-back in pushing Chicago for the world's fair.

It WON'T BARE BEARD.—In other words, Hood's Sarsaparilla will not do impossibilities. Its proprietors tell plainly what it has done, submit proofs from sources of unquestioned reliability, and ask you frankly if you are suffering from any disease or affliction caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. The experience of others is sufficient assurance that you will not be disappointed in the result.

Good manners cover defects for a time. The best government is self-government. Don't bolt your reading as you do your food. A jewel of a woman is better than a woman of jewels. Shamelessness, like bad money, is sure to be detected. Don't anticipate evil, when it comes it is bad enough.

Interested People. Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does is indeed wonderful. He authorizes druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c. and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

PUCKERINGS. What are the wild waves saying? They are probably telling fish stories to one another. Men propose, God disposes, woman discomposes, the divorce court interposes, until the press exposes. If some people should speak the truth it wouldn't shame the devil as much as it would surprise him. When a man is said to "travel on his hands," the remark is to be taken in a figurative sense. It is bad form anyhow. The charity which hides a multitude of sins isn't half so much needed nowadays as the sterner virtue which rewards them. It is lucky that the youthful mind finds it so easy to acquire knowledge, as we have to learn so much that we must forget afterward. The American system of checking baggage is admitted to be excellent. Now, if some genius would invent some method of checking the American baggage-smasher our system would be perfect.

THE BUCKEYE NOMINEE.

JAMES E. CAMPBELL NAMED FOR GOVERNOR.

Ohio Democrats Nominate a Full Ticket—List of Their Platform—Other Political News.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 29.—The assumption here is undoubtedly one of the largest conventions ever held by the Democratic party in Ohio. Ten o'clock was the time set for the opening of the convention. At 10:15 the delegates were seated and the hall packed. Dr. Norton then rapped for order and made a brief address outlining the purposes of the convention. He made his speech the vehicle for a caustic criticism of the Republican party and Gov. Foraker. This was followed by a eulogy of the Democratic party and its principles.

The Hon. M. D. Harter of Richland county, was elected permanent president, Lewis G. Bernard of Hamilton county secretary, and Peter Weidner of Montgomery sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Harter took the chair and made a lengthy speech. After adopting the report of the committee on rules and order of business, the Hon. John A. McMahon read the report of the committee on resolutions, prefacing it with the statement that it was not a compromise, but was unanimously adopted, and that the committee was fully agreed that there should be no backward step in the matter of tariff reform. (Great applause.)

The platform adopted by the convention adopted the declaration of principles made by the national Democracy in St. Louis in 1888, and especially that part of it demanding reduction of tariff taxes; regarded trusts as the legitimate results of our present tariff system, and demands the repeal of all tariff taxes; acknowledges the great debt of gratitude which the nation owes to the heroes of the late war, and declares in favor of just, liberal and equitable pension laws; denounces the Republican administration for the repeated violation of its pledges in behalf of civil service reform; denounces the present State administration as the most partisan, demoralizing and extravagant in our history; protests against the repeated enactment of laws vesting the appointing power in the Governor; demands the nomination of the Governor of Ohio for third term as an outrage against the people, and should be rebuked at the polls; favors home rule in Ireland, and demands it also for Ohio. While favoring all laws that safely protect the ballot box and the honest voter, it demands the enactment of laws that will enable our citizens to choose their own servants and control their own destinies.

Three names for Governor were placed before the convention in brief nominating speeches. They were those of Mr. Campbell, Virgil P. Kline, and George T. Neal. The first ballot gave 292 votes to Campbell, 252 for Neal and 149 for Kline. Instantly when it was seen that Campbell was so far in the lead a stampede broke, and solid delegations, one after another, changed their votes to Campbell, so that he really had enough votes to nominate on the first ballot.

Great confusion ensued, and at last a second ballot was taken. The result: Whole number of votes, 789; Campbell, 374; Neal, 299; Kline, 93. Campbell was then declared the nominee of the convention.

Mr. Campbell, on being presented, accepted the nomination and went on to arraign in severe terms the legislation of the Republican party in Ohio and the administration of Gov. Foraker.

The ticket was completed by the selection of the following: For Lieutenant-Governor, William Vance Marquis of Logan county; Judge of the Supreme Court, Martin Follet of Washington county; State Treasurer, W. E. Borden of Guernsey county; State Commissioner of Schools, Charles C. Miller of Putnam county; Attorney General, James M. Lewis of Champaign county; Member Board of Public Works, Frank Reynolds of Hamilton county; Clerk Supreme court, J. J. G. Shoemaker of Seneca county.

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION.

Assembling of the Country's Legal Lights in Annual Convention.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Thursday morning in the First Methodist church block the American Bar association assembled in annual convention. Some 200 of the most distinguished men in the United States were present.

The change in the location of the convention of the American Bar association had a beneficial effect. Heretofore all the gatherings have been held in Saratoga and about a hundred members attended. The more central location this year has already brought double that number, and several hundred more will undoubtedly be present before the conclusion of the session.

Among the distinguished gentlemen present were David Dudley Field, president of the American Bar association who occupied a seat on the center of the chancel. On his right were President Lachner of the State association and President, Callaghan of the Chicago Bar association, and on his left were Senators Trumbull and Edward C. Hickey of Baltimore.

DAVID DUDLEY FIELD, who is secretary of the American Bar association. Behind the president were Alexander R. Lawton of Georgia, ex-minister to Austria and an ex-Confederate general; Thomas J. Sedgwick, the leading lawyer of Louisiana; ex-Senator J. B. Hoeltz of Wisconsin; J. Dean Catton, ex-Chief Justice of Iowa; United States Circuit Judge Henry B. Hall of Detroit; Judge Meyer of Louisiana; and C. C. Bonney of Chicago. Among the audience were ex-Mayor Vaux of Philadelphia, who enjoys the distinction of being the only American who ever danced with Queen Victoria; Henry Wise Carrett of Washington, and many others.

After addresses of welcome by Mr. Lachner and Mr. Callaghan, which followed Judge Trumbull's short address, President David Dudley Field began his annual address.

ON THE TURF.

A Son of Longfellow Goes Seven-Eighths of a Mile in 1:24 1/2—Turf Matters. At Chicago G. W. Cook, a 4-year-old bay gelding by Longfellow, dam Miss Tilton, owned by Carille & Shields of Denver, Col., lowered the record for 7-furlongs to 1:24 1/2. Other winners were Fred Pink, Clara Moore, and Miss and.

At Saratoga the winners were Lady Pulser, Bonafete, Lavinia Belle, Quindaro Belle and Mail of Orleans. At Morris Park, Trotter Knott, Catalpa, Ben Flag, Kingston, Gramercy and Saratoga were the winners.

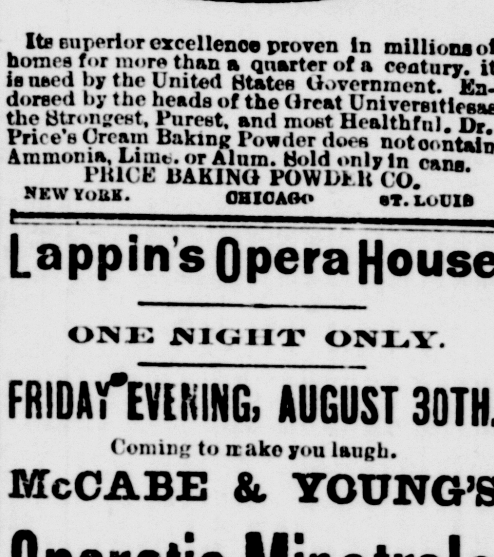

At Hartford the 2:20 trot was won by Alcyon in 2:14; the 2:24 trot by Farmer Boy in 2:20 and the 2:30 trot by Mand Miller in 2:20.

At Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Axtell trotted to beat his record of 2:20 1/2 over a half-mile track. He was slightly lame from overwork and made it in 2:23. His owner, C. W. Williams, said, refused a bona fide offer of $100,000 for him.

At Elgin Park in the 2:33 trot in 2:34. The 2:30 pace was won by Dom Pedro in 2:30.

At Pontiac, Ill., the 2:30 trot was won by Cora Wilkes in 2:32, the 3-minute trot was unfinished and the half-mile running race went to Alby Lock in 30.

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to self destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, allgone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, allgone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. FARR, Watertown, Mass. N. B. Be sure to get only

BUSINESS SESSIONS OF THE GRAND ARMY.

Commander-in-Chief Warner's Annual Address—Statistics of the Order—Concerning Pensions.

Gen. Alger Chosen Commander-in-Chief and Boston Selected for the Next Encampment.

Gen. Sherman Makes a Speech—Honors to Mrs. Logan—The Iron Brigade Fight.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 29.—The twenty-third National Encampment was called to order by Commander-in-Chief Warner at 10:15 Wednesday.

This session was held at the West Side Turner hall, the interior of which was appropriately decorated. Gen. Sherman was in attendance and occupied a seat among the Missouri delegation. The hall was filled with delegates aggregating about 750 persons, or about 250 short of the total number entitled to seats in the encampment.

After prayer by Chaplain Wharton of the Wisconsin department, and a brief introduction to allow late delegates to seat themselves, Commander Warner read his address, in the course of which he said: "The Grand Army of the Republic is the greatest civic organization the world has ever seen. Its list of membership is the nation's roll of honor, containing the most illustrious names in history, the names of the brave men who in the darkest days of the rebellion followed the stars and stripes as an emblem, not of a Confederacy of States bound together by ropes of sand, but of an indestructible Union of States, whose motto is 'Indivisible'."

"The membership of the Grand Army constitutes the great conservative element of the nation, the champions of civil and religious liberty, the defenders of the rights of labor but having no sympathy with anarchy or communism, recognizing no flag but the stars and stripes, believing that loyalty is a virtue and that treason is a crime."

"The members of the Grand Army are enrolled under the banner of fraternity, charity and loyalty 1,010,086. These comrades are found in 6,711 posts in 42 departments. We are everywhere, and into every State and Territory. The growth of our organization has been steady and healthy."

"The greatest gain during the year has been in the department of Missouri. Big departments show a gain in membership in good standing of 11,934, distributed as follows: Illinois 1,283, Iowa 1,413, Nebraska 1,709, Pennsylvania 1,749, New York 1,905, Ohio 2,004, Wisconsin 2,923, Missouri 3,622."

The commander went on to say that in 1879 the Grand Army membership in good standing was 35,061, while to-day it is 382,708—net gain in a single decade of 334,000.

As to pensions Gen. Warner said: "The Grand Army of the Republic has never exercised its influence in pension legislation, because of division in its ranks. Unity of action will secure satisfactory results; a divided council will contribute to defeat. Our demands should be reasonable and consistent."

"The last encampment, by a practically unanimous vote, recommended to Congress a service pension bill and what is known as the Disability Pension bill, the latter having received the repeated approval of previous encampments. This action was the result of compromise, and in my judgment was as wise as it was just and conservative. My experience in Congress leads me to believe that you will greatly strengthen the hands of our friends in that body by demanding at Milwaukee the pension legislation asked for by the Columbia committee on pensions take your recommendations to Congress backed by a united Grand Army of the Republic and there will be no failure."

"The service pension bill, which the day is not far distant when an honorable discharge from the Union army and navy shall be all the evidence required to secure a pension for his soldier."

His address closed with words of warm commendation for the Woman's Relief corps and the Sons of Veterans organization.

Before the adjournment Past Commander-in-Chief, Gen. of Michigan was presented with a very fine tin set as a tribute to his zeal in behalf of the order.

The Afternoon Session.

At 2 o'clock the encampment again went into session. The preliminaries for the contest for the location of the next encampment were imposing, but when it came to a vote Boston swept everything before her, receiving more votes than all the rest combined. Washington received 84 votes; Saratoga, 31, and Indianapolis 23, and there were several hundred delegates present. A resolution was introduced giving the commander-in-chief and the council of administration power to locate the encampment in any city where the best railway routes could be obtained.

This resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote, so Boston will surely be the place where the next encampment will be held.

The reports of the various standing committees were made and accepted and the only one of general interest was from the pension committee. This was in no wise startling, merely reciting what had been done during the year, and giving favorable to the disability pension clause and the widows' and children's pension. The committee placed the whole matter in the hands of the encampment without any recommendation, merely expressing the opinion that the work should be pushed and that the encampment should decide on a line of action.

The sensation of the day was sprung by Gen. Lucius Fairchild, and the fact that he introduced the resolution which he did was what caused the sensation.

He offered a resolution asking that Congress appropriate money enough to erect monuments at Gettysburg over the "graves" of the brave men against whom the Union GEN. FAIRCHILD, and soldiers fought."

and urged that such action be taken as soon as possible. The resolution was greeted with applause and was referred to the committee along with the others.

Gen. Alger Chosen Commander.

At the evening session ex-Gov. Russell A. Alger was elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. The meeting was a secret one and it lasted from 8:30 o'clock to nearly midnight. Gen. Alger was put in nomination by Postmaster Section of Chicago, who made a very forcible speech. Fully twenty speeches were made by men who favored the man who was disappointed at Chicago last year. They came from all sections of the country, among them being Gen. Hunt of Ohio, T. A. Dean of Pennsylvania, Gen. Clinton of Wisconsin, and Corporal Tanner of New York. Gen. Veazey of Vermont was placed in nomination and so was Consigny of Iowa. More speeches were made for Gen. Alger and it soon became apparent that the Michigan man had a walk-over. Gen. Veazey then withdrew, as did Consigny. Gen. Alger was then elected by acclamation. He was brought to the hall and received with rousing cheers. He spoke. So did Corporal Tanner.

E. G. Weissert, commander of the Wisconsin department, was elected senior vice-commander by acclamation, no other candidates appearing. John P. Lovett of New Jersey was elected junior vice-commander, after an exciting contest with James E. Tainter of Connecticut.

The election of Gen. Alger was a surprise, and had his forces been half so well organized at the Chicago convention as COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF RUSSELL A. ALGER.

They were here he would now be President of the United States.

Sherman at the Soldiers' Home.

The visit of Gen. Sherman to the Soldiers' home was one of the chief events of the day. He was accompanied by a large number of Grand Army men and Mrs. Logan. "Old Tomcousin" got the reputation of being a great talker. He spent the day in the home turned out in line to cheer him when he came and when he retired. They were well pleased to see Uncle Billy come and gave him a glowing review, nor did they forget his companions. The veteran commander stopped on his return to the city to witness the maneuvers at the National park, where cavalry, infantry, and artillery were engaged in a prize drill. Among them were Battery D and the Chicago zouaves, the Light battery of Milwaukee, and the Milwaukee Light Horse squadron. The infantry and cavalry gave an exhibition, and the artillery contest was not concluded. There was a large attendance of spectators, all interested in what took place and applauding vociferously.

Gen. Sherman made a brief speech at the home, which he says is the last speech he will ever make. He said:

"Boys: My speaking days are over. I am going to make no more speeches. If you want a speech take Senator Markerson. I think he can make a good speech. I am always glad to see so many soldiers looking hearty and healthy. I think I can do you more good by going to see that our old Uncle Sam takes pretty good care of these old soldiers. Uncle Sam can make young men just as good as you or I can make them. We have passed through our share of hardships, and we are coming out of the bushes everywhere. If you think you are the only old soldiers you are mistaken. There is a lot of old soldiers here, and there will be again. Such is the providence of the world. Just as good men were born a thousand years ago and will be born a thousand years hence."

All we have to do is to do our part in this short period of life honorably and honestly. I think we can pass the grand tribunal and say: 'We have tried to do our best, and the answer will be 'Well done.' We have passed through our crisis of our country's history. I don't see any chance for another, but nobody knows the future. Bring up your children to love and love our country, and love each other and stand by each other as long as we have heads on our shoulders and legs on our bodies. Those old soldiers who fought against the enemy in these trying days a grateful country will try its best to assist, and will, I think, in fact I am sure, be good to you when you get too old all that is necessary. But keep your eyes open and do not go into a Soldiers' home if you can help it."

Ex-Pension Commissioner Black and Secretary of Agriculture Rusk also made brief addresses. About 25,000 people were present.

The Woman's Relief Corps.

The only session of the present meeting of the Woman's Relief Corps open to the public took place Wednesday at Immanuel church, where the ladies of the Corps met for the purpose of electing officers. The meeting was a great interest, which was heightened by the presence on the rostrum of Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Alger, Miss Barton and Gov. Hoar. Mrs. Secretary Rusk and Miss Rusk were also present, but remained in the audience. The church was crowded. Mrs. Belle T. Bagley, chief of staff of the Ohio Woman's Relief corps, addressed the president from the rostrum and said: "I take pleasure in presenting to the Woman's Relief corps Mrs. Mary A. Logan and Mrs. Russell A. Alger of Michigan. As the two distinguished ladies ascended the rostrum they were greeted with enthusiastic applause."

Mrs. Craig, president of the national body, called the meeting to order, and Mrs. Annie Cunningham of Philadelphia invoked the divine blessing upon the labors of the convention. The opening ode was sung and the roll of officers called. Gov. Hoar then delivered an address of welcome.

Mrs. Logan's address followed and then Gen. Consigny, Erwin, and Longstaff presented the association with a gavel made from the table on which Gen. Grant worked during the war. The roll of officers was then called and the report of the president of the association shows that the departments and detached corps had expended in the work of relief the sum of $94,433.81, making a total of $81,271.09 in relief work. The report of the president of the association shows that the departments and detached corps had expended in the work of relief the sum of $94,433.81, making a total of $81,271.09 in relief work.

The Veteran Signal Corps.

The business meeting of the United States Veteran Signal Corps association was held at their headquarters, Grand avenue, J. R. Fitch of Evanston, Ill., presided in the absence of the president, Gen. Jesse Merrill. The following officers were elected: President, Gov. J. B. Foraker of Ohio; vice-president, J. H. Kelly of Albany, N. Y.; J. R. Fortescue of Philadelphia; and J. R. Fitch of Evanston, Ill.; secretary, Charles D. W. Marcy of Boston; historian, J. Willard Brown of Cambridge, Mass.; quartermaster, E. R. Dowler of H. H. Haddock, Pa.

The Association of the Army of the Frontier met at the Nineteenth Street rink. The army of the frontier is the official designation of that part of the Union army which operated in southern Missouri and northern Arkansas. It was defeated at Pea Ridge and Van Dorn at Pea Ridge, and under Heron it defeated Hindman at Prairie Grove. With the exception of New York, the first loyal regiment raised on Southern soil, the troops were from Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. On account of the nearness of these States about 600 members of the association were present. Speeches and songs were the order of the day.

A banquet was given Wednesday evening in Fraternity hall to representatives of the Milwaukee, State
